

International Cranial Association

CPD study day and workshop

Sunday 26th September, 2010

Renzo Molinari

Theory, demonstration and practical techniques about the pressure compartments within the body, including the cranium, and their relationships, and their effects on function and pathology

Professor Renzo Molinari D. O. is one of the leading figures of Osteopathy and has 30 years of experience. He co-founded the Collège Ostéopathique Français and was its first principal. He then became Principal of the European School of Osteopathy (Maidstone, England) and has taught worldwide many years. He has extensive experience in teaching and developing osteopathic courses in a variety of osteopathic techniques particularly biomechanics, obstetrics and clinical approach.

The venue is the Bodywork suite at University of Westminster, Cavendish Campus, 115 New Cavendish St, W1W 6UW; from 10.30 till 17.00. Refreshments provided.

Cost: £20 for ICRA members and students; £60 for non members of ICRA
CPD Certificates issued

✂-----✂-----
BOOKING FORM

Name (PRINT)

Email

Address

Telephone

I would like to book places
I enclose cheque made payable to ICrA for

Please return form to address below

ICrA Head office : Old School Studio Hammewood Road Ashurst Wood East Grinstead RH19 3RX
01342 822910